

Virginia

If you hold a photo ID card...

Effective July 1, 2002, you can no longer hold both a driver's license and a photo identification (ID) card.

Since you have now obtained an ID card from DMV, your previously issued license is no longer valid.

If you find your original license or it is returned to you by a court or law enforcement agency, IT IS NOT A VALID LICENSE.

Before you can legally drive, you must:

- visit your local DMV customer service center
- surrender your ID card
- obtain a replacement license

YOU Legal Presence a f f e c t s y o u

All applicants for a photo ID card will be required to prove legal presence. If you have previously provided proof of legal presence, you may not be required to provide this proof. Visit for more information.

www.dmvNOW.com

DMV 144 (September 2003)
© Commonwealth of Virginia
Department of Motor Vehicles
(DMV) 2003. All rights reserved.